

Advanced Strategic Planning and Management 1 day intensive Workshop

Monday 13th July 2009, Rydges South Park
1 South Terrace, Adelaide

'Every year, organisations like yours lose hundreds of thousands of dollars through well intentioned but dysfunctional strategic planning efforts - this workshop will help ensure your organisation isn't one of them'

Background to the Program

Established in 2006, The Australian Strategic Planning Institute exists to provide advanced insight and techniques in strategic planning. Our stated Vision is "Contributing to organisational improvement through effective strategy and planning". This workshop aims to provide excellence in debate and implementation in the Strategic Planning field encompassing stages from Future Potentials, through to execution and on to impacts, results and accountability.

Foundational Beliefs:

Strategic Planning is a process that presupposes a desired future outcome is identified
Strategic Planning is a process that assumes actions will be undertaken to reach desired targets
Strategic Planning is a process that connects the present to the future, whilst learning from the past
Strategic Planning is a process that offers clear direction, method and purpose to an organisation whilst remaining flexible and responsive in times of crisis, opportunity and change

Workshop Core Challenges:

This workshop has been developed to address the core challenges facing strategic planning today:

Most Strategic Planning efforts will fail to deliver value due to at least one of the following 3 reasons -

1. Poor Inputs were used to construct the Strategic plan
 - a. The thinking and factors that were included in creating the strategic plan did not encompass information that was readily available to the organisation. The result was a Strategic Plan that applied shallow thinking, narrow awareness and limited understanding of potential choices
2. The Strategic Plan was not executed
 - a. Despite a quality Strategic Plan being created the organisation failed to act on its stated intentions
3. The Strategic Plan was poorly executed
 - a. Despite clearly stated intentions, the quality of construction or the quality of execution did not match that which would have enabled the organisation to achieve its aims

Program

This one day program will consider the major areas for Advanced Strategic Planning

- Creating Awareness & Exploring Possible Plausibles: environmental scanning; risk profiles; using advanced strategy tools to be better informed; testing assumptions and expectations, readying the organisation for change
- Strategic Planning Frameworks that work: how to gather information from across and beyond your organisation; managing the process; ensuring effective strategic planning policies and procedures
- Creating Decisions that are truly Strategic: The role of the vision statement, cross linking the possible plausibles with the SWOR analysis, reality checking the identified strategies, identifying the strategic actions required, structuring the strategic plan
- Developing implementation that Works: Structuring the strategic plan, Developing the strategic Board agenda, structuring Board and staff reports, annual reports as accountability tools, succession planning; Performance management issues, creating a strategic culture, innovation linked to strategy, reviewing the strategic plan.

Learning Applications

The program will utilise an array of techniques, including dynamic presentations, real life case studies, and small- and full-group discussions to fully engage the participant members in this workshop so that benefits are maximised through drawing on the knowledge and experience of each participant.

Each subject matter expert will provide insights into the specific tools and approaches that ought to be included in your Organisation's Strategic Planning process to enhance the desired outcome from your Organisation's Strategic Plan

In the facilitated panel format in the second half of the day, participants are encouraged to 'come armed' with a critical question to put to the expert panel. The Panel answers will be targeted directly to your needs, providing you with the opportunity to gain customised insights that you can immediately apply within your organisation.

Subject to time availability the Panel will attempt to cover all participants and address their specific organisational question.

Expected Outcomes from Workshop

1. An awareness of the key elements required in an effective Strategic Planning process;
2. Clear understanding of the ways each element contributes to more effective Strategic Plans
3. An understanding of the next steps to improve your Organisation's Strategic Planning initiatives.
